Begin nutrient-dense foods from all food groups at around 6 months of age, but not before 4 months. Foods should be age and developmentally appropriate.

Include foods rich in iron and zinc, such as infant cereal.

Two servings of infant cereal a day meets baby's need for iron—a critical nutrient for brain development, learning ability and immune function.

Creditable Infant Cereal

Iron helps support brain development. Infant cereal is the #1 food source of iron. Just 2 servings of Gerber® Infant
Cereal provide 100% of your baby's daily iron needs.

One 8 oz canister has 60 Tbsp of Infant Cereal. ½ oz eq is about 4 tbsp dry cereal.
